

Respect

What sort of world do you enjoy? What are you doing here?
Do you experience a life of Love, or one entrenched in FEAR?!
What kind of people are in your world? Do you get along?
Do you see everyone as unique, or are some doing wrong??

In life, it's good to recognize that each one IS unique.
That everyone is who they are, and perfection must not seek.
Each one is on their unique path, enjoying to connect.
And that everyone in this world, deserves proper respect.

Respect is vital, it is the glue that keeps humanity whole.
When we respect all around, Love reverberates pole to pole!
Life can be good if you make it so, one where you create.
Enjoying every single day - for this we must not wait!

So, love yourself, love your friends, give respect and Love.
Share and smile and be yourself, you have so much to give.
Let's flow along in Free Forward Motion, be happy and free.
Life can be good for everyone, including you and ME!!
